IMPROVEMENT.

BY JESSE ANDREW DOBRELL.

There are times when the heart is enthusiastic,
When darkness and shadows are life,
And the soul vaguely yearns for something
That shall speak of a higher life.
When we feel our life is a burden,
Too grievous sometimes to be borne,
And the chain of cold circumstance ever
Parts those who to Friendship were sworn.

Friendship! the word is a mockery,
Its meaning so little is known,
And the first wave of judgment coming
Will instantly set it overthrown.
Oh! how hard to play innocently for guidance,
And feel that we're almost upon us;
And though we strive hard for the mastery,
The strife against 'tis every man's hand."

There's no use in idle bewailing,
But we bravely forward must go;
Though we see no light in the present,
Three will be hereafter we know.
And though oft we faint by the wayside,
And think that our life-path is long,
We must learn often a lesson—
"To suffer" and then to "be strong."

A FRENCH GHOST STORY.

The Castle of Andvilliers, near Bretonil, was reported to be haunted by evil spirits. Dreadful noises were heard, and flames were seen by night to issue from various apertures. The farmer who was entrusted with the care of the house in the absence of its owner, the President d'Andvilliers, could alone live there. The spirit seemed to respect him; but any person who ventured to take up a night's lodging in the castle was sure to hear the marks of his audacity. Superstition is catching. By and by the peasants in the neighborhood began to see strange sights. Sometimes a dozen of ghosts would appear in the air above the castle, dancing around. At other times a number of presidents and counselors in red robes appeared in the adjacent meadows. Then they sat in judgment on a gentleman of the country, who had been beheaded for some crime a hundred years before. In short, many had seen, and all had heard of the wonders of Andvilliers.

This affair had continued four or five years, to the great loss of the president, who had been obliged to let the estate to the farmer at a very low rate. At length, suspecting some artifice, he resolved to visit and inspect the castle. Taking with him two gentlemen, his friends, they determined to pass the night in the same apartment, and, if any noise or apparition disturbed them, to discharge their pistols at either ghost or sound. As spirits know all things, they were probably aware of these preparations, and not one appeared; but in the chamber just above a dreadful rattling of chains was heard, and the wife and sister of the farmer ran to assist their lord. They threw themselves on their knees, begging that he would not visit that terrible room. "My lord," they said, "what can human force effect against people of the other world?" Mr. de la Roche attempted the same enterprise years ago, and returned with a dislocated arm. M. d'Urselle tried, he too, was overwhelmed with bundles of hay and was ill for a long time after. In short, so many attempts were mentioned that the president's friends advised him to abandon the design. But they determined to encounter the danger themselves. Proceeding upstairs to an extensive room, each having a candle in one hand and a pistol in the other, they found it full of thick smoke, which increased more and more from some flames that were visible.

Soon after the ghost or spirit finally appeared in the middle; he seemed quite black and was gazing himself by cutting capers; but another eruption of flame and smoke hid him from their view. He had horns, and a long tail, and was in truth a dreadful object. One of the gentlemen found his courage fail. It is certainly supernatural," said he, "let us retreat." The other, endowed with more boldness asserted that the smoke was that of gunpowder, which is no supernatural composition; and if this same spirit, added he, "knew his nature and trade, he should have extinguished our candles." With these remarks he jumped amidst the smoke and flames and pursued the spectre. He soon discharged his pistol at his back, and hit him exactly in the middle; but was himself seized with fear, when the spirit, far from falling, turned round and rushed upon him. Seven recovering himself he resolved to grasp the ghost, to discover if it were wrist and impossible. Mr. Spectre, disordered by this new maneuver, fled to a tower, and descended a small staircase. The gentleman ran after, and, never losing sight of him, passing several courts and gardens, still pursuing as the spirit wended, till at length they entered an open lawn. Here the pursuer, certain, as he thought of his prey, shut the door; but when he turned round, what was his amazement to see the spectre totally disappear! In great confusion he called to the servants for more lights. On examining the spot of the spirit's disappearance, he found a trap door, upon raising which several mattresses appeared, to form the fall of the headlong adventurer. Doubtless he found the runaway spirit, the farmer himself! His dress of a complete Indian's hide, had secured him from pistol-shot, and the horns and tail were not indubious, but mere natural appendages of the original. The rogue confessed all his tricks, and was pardoned on paying the arrears for five years, at the old rent of the land.

GOOD HABITS.

Remember, boys, before you are twenty you must establish a character that will serve you all your life. As habits grow stronger every year, any turning into a new path is more and more difficult; therefore it is often harder to abandon them to learn; and on this account a famous flute player used to charge double price to those pupils who had been taught before by a poor master. Try and reform a lazy, unthrifty, or drunken person, and in most cases you fail; for the bad habit, whatever it is, has so wormed itself into the life, that it cannot be uprooted. The best habit is the habit of care in the formation of good habits.

THE NEWS.

There is no doubt but that there is a need not yet supplied in one conflict of the war of the rebellion—and there is no less doubt that the need we speak of, is one much better supplied among the rebels than among ourselves. This may be a humiliating admission, but truth imperatively makes it necessary. In order to show the truth of our position we would instance the acts of dashing gallantry which the rebels have more than once made into our territory, although owing to the odds against them, on account of men and means, they have been prevented from being able to hold any permanent advantage in our own territory. The bold raid of Stuart's cavalry into Pennsylvania, may be instance as one example, and our yesterday's telegram furnished us with another—we mean the daring onset of two rebel gunboats and three small steamers from Charleston upon a portion of our blockading squadron. Although we do not believe anything about their having raised the blockade, so grandiloquently announced in the Proclamation of Beauregard and the Commanders of the fleet, yet, for the purpose intended, it was a complete success. They knew they lost when they magnificently announced the raising of the blockade, with a Federal fleet of thirteen vessels, among which were two large sized frigates, within sight, yet it was a bold naval raid like Stuart's on land.—We also say it was a success. And, although we know just the amount of "gumption" there is mixed up with their falsehoods, yet every such bold, gallant and successful dash gives them a prestige in the eyes of the world, and weakens the confidence in our own people—a prestige which will work for them still more favors from the bleareyed monarchies of Europe, and embolden the sympathizers with the South, who are now taking sweet council together as to how they can best hand to all over, bound hand and foot into the hands of Jefferson D. & Co., and into the power of that other prince of darkness, whose name, like that of his great prototype, South, begins with a D. Thus we shall be till the next we spoke of in the beginning of one article, is supplied—we mean a leader worthy the occasion which demands him. It seems hitherto that we have been "blind leaders of the blind," or rather as were the Jews of whose leaders, the prophet Irish spoke when he wrote, "For the leaders of this people cause them to err; and they that are led of them are destroyed." We want a different kind of leading, at Washington—in the Cabinet, in the camp and in the field. When this leader shall arise, like the day spring from on high," and seize the glorious flag of our Union with the grasp of Cromwellian perseverance, Napoleonic military genius, and a living faith in the God of battles to favor the right, then will there dawn a new hope, a new sign of promise shall mark our political heavens, and unto such a leader shall the "gathering of all the people."

General Assembly.

Both houses were visited yesterday by Gen. Burnside, who was warmly received by the members—each for himself, in all formality was dressed in accordance with the well known desire of the distinguished guest. The General's visit made a very pleasing impression upon those legislators who had not previously enjoyed his acquaintance.

In Senate listened to a learned and elaborate argument by Hon. E. R. Potter, of South Kingstown, in favor of a resolution declaring that the Assembly has power to grant new trials, and concluding, Mr. Potter gave way to a motion for adjournment.

The House, the precipitancy of the City Council in applying for the restoration to them of over a million dollars city revenue was resisted by the Judiciary Committee, and ultimately the House, which unanimously gave the power leave to withdraw. The House also voted a disposition to cease incorporating independent associations, thereby are enabled to hold property exempt from taxation. A resolution adopted authorizing a sum never received in building the old wing of the State house, the Paymaster General reported that he expended $53,673 in bonds for soldiers engaged under the last two calls of the President, bill was introduced to abolish imprisonment for small debts. Such a measure of justice and humanity ought not to fail of becoming a law.

The New York Express is getting to be very defiant. It informs Greeley that if Brooks is "killed" as it calls it, and sent to Washington, 25,000 men will band together to kidnap him and bring him to a botage. Fort Lafayette isn't strong enough, it says, to hold a political prisoner. No conservative soldier will guard such a one, or if they did a short time ago, British troops would take him out.

Another Disgraceful victory to Interlopers.—A day since Mr. Edward S. Terry was found dead in a low drinking house in New York, of death resulting from the immediate use of violent spirits. A few years ago he was a lawyer of influence and ability, a member of a good society, and at one time he was a law partner of Charles D'Orville, a leading lawyer of the New York bar.

The British papers proceed to believe that the sunburnt Warrens was sunk by the British in war Spitfire in retaliation for Capt. Wilkes' blockade at San Juan.

Local News Items.

Rhode Island Soldier's Relief Association at Washington.

This Society organized for the purpose of looking after the needs and comfort of Rhode Island soldiers, especially the sick and the wounded, and which is supported by the contributions of those who are not willing our men in the field away from home, should suffer from want of the comforts of food, or raiment, seem to be doing a good and efficient work.—Prof. Jillson, the Secretary of the Association, has written a letter to Col. Blodget, of Providence, which was published in the Providence Bulletin, and which is full of interest to us all. It is dated Washington, Feb. 1, 1863.—We quote the following abstracts, not having room for all the same published. He says that he returned on Friday from the field, and makes a report of the number of our men in the Hospitals:

There are 18 of the 12th R. I. Reg. Many others of this regiment were sick in tents, and the whole effective force of the regiment was 700. Those belonging to Co. D, the Newport Co., in this regiment are Luther B. Pierce, typhoid fever, Jesse D. Mitchell, cold and fever, George H. Ball, fever.

17 in the 5th Regiment, and many sick in tents.

8 in the 4th Regiment. Hiriam Freely is the only one from Newport. [Replied Tuesday, by mistake, in the above letter.]

3 in the 3d Regiment, and 1 more in Hospital two miles south of Aquia Creek—7 in all. None from Newport.

16 men in 1st R. I. Cavalry, in Hospital. None from Newport.

9 in the 1st R. I. Artillery. None from Newport.

In all 75 Rhode Island soldiers are in Hospital. He says the principal wants among all the regiments are shirts, drawers, stockings and shoes, and although the Government furnishes those there are numerous delays in receiving them, (which in our opinion is simply outrageous.)

The men of the 12th have built small huts about two feet high, over which they have placed shelter tents, and are thus protected from the weather. The 7th have built their huts higher and are more comfortable. The 4th are in a condition similar to the 12th. The 2d are in a pine grove, and comfortably quartered. Some have been sent to Windmill Point, 2 miles below Aquia Creek, and are there in tents on an open plain, and are in great want of wood and cooking arrangements. The supply of wood is small, and the means of drawing limited. A few oranges of wood, he says, would be acceptable.

Now after reading these statements, authentic and official, will not all, so far as their ability will enable them, assist in enabling this Association to carry out its object of rendering our men comfortable. They left all to fight for our rights. Who is there that will withhold his aid in the proportion to his means. This is all very well, as our soldiers are there, but now we have a question that goes beyond all this, namely, how in God's name are any of our soldiers, lying sick and wounded in shelter tents and on an open plain, destitute of raiment and of fuel, to suffer the rigors of a Southern winter climate, made up of sudden and most trying changes than the severest winter of the North? What are they doing there we ask, when it has been ordered that all our sick and wounded should resort to comfortable Hospitals in their own State, where they could be ministered unto, and every patriotic and liberal person could be his own physician?

Now their comforts are doled out to them by the cold hand of a paid charity, through paid agents, when in fact there is no charity in the matter, but duty, duty—only duty. We owe these men obligations that we have not money enough to repay. We are bound to set to their comfort by eternal obligations that cannot be cancelled.

What are these poor sufferers, we ask again, doing on that shelterless plain, without wood? Who is to blame? If the General Government don't know enough to send them home, don't our State Government know enough to bring them home?

INTERNAL REVENUE TONNAGE DUTY.—Not long since we called attention to the 15th Section of the A. A. Interim temporally the duties or imports and for other purposes. This section is the one in which the tax on tonnage of vessels is provided for. Since then differences of opinion have arisen among those interested in owners of vessels, and otherwise as to the proper construction of that part of the Act contained in the first proviso and which is in these words:

Provided, That said tonnage duty shall not be collected more than once in each year, on any ship, vessel, or steamer to or from my port or place in Mexico, the British provinces of North America, or capes of the West India Islands.

Now there has been a misunderstanding as to the time when the tax is to be collected on vessels engaged in the coasting trade and long upon vessels engaged in the fishing industry, and which may come into port after a long absence.

In regard to these matters the Collector of this Port has received from the Secretary of the Treasury, a circular explanatory and directory, which contains among other things these three clauses, as to when the tax shall be collected:

"1. On all vessels engaged in the Coasting Trade, which are not required by law to enter on the coast thereof.

"2. On all vessels engaged in the Coasting Trade, which are not required by law to enter, on the general of their license, if not previously paid, or other fisheries, or their first arrival in ports of the United States, from their fishing voyage."

From these explanations it will be seen, that coasting vessels, which are required to enter, that is, which are engaged in carrying foreign goods, must pay the tonnage duty at their entry. That all coasting vessels, not required to enter, but which are licensed merely, must pay the duty when they take out their license. As to vessels which are absent in the fishing business, whaling vessels, should they now come into port from a three years cruise, more or less, they are not to pay a tax for the whole time of absence but upon their first entry into port, and for ever ending Dec. 31st and will receive their certificates accordingly.

That is, they are to pay but one tonnage duty on entry into port. The Act is defective however, because while other vessels are forced to make payment every year, a whaler, on coming into port after an absence of four years, pays only one year's tonnage duty, and would pay only 20 percent as much as other vessels that pay yearly.

Another unfair operation is that vessels visiting foreign ports with the exception of the port of Mexico and of the British Provinces in America must pay every time they enter port. Thus, for instance, an English steamer, should she make twenty voyages during one year, must pay in this country twenty tonnage duties in the same year. This is manifestly unjust.

We are indebted to the Collector of the Port and his deputy for the loan of official documents and other assistance in making up this article.

The Board of Aldermen.—At the regular monthly meeting of the Council held on Tuesday evening, received amongst other petitions the following, growing out of the troubles in the 1st. Baptist Church, in this city, of which Dr. John Clark was the founder:

To His Honor the Mayor and to the Board of Aldermen of the city of Newport:

The undersigned would respectfully represent that Messrs Robert Dennis, Benjamin Smith, and Samuel S. Peckham, resigns of Dr. John Clark, hold certain Powers in trust, in the First Baptist Meeting House in this city, for the use of which they have failed to render an annual account, which, by law, they are required to do; and, further more, we would represent that an important use has been, as we believe, made of the property and the funds proceeding therefrom.

Wherefore, we pray, your honorable body to investigate this subject, that Justice may be done to all.

(Signed) George G. Chase, Ira Stillman, Geo. M. Hazard, Abigail H. Tilley, Triphine B. Spooner.

Upon this Petition the Board of Aldermen, have caused the above named three Trustees, to be and appear before the Board on Monday February the 29th at 2 o'clock p.m., at their chamber in the City Hall, to show cause, if any, why an order, judgment or decree in relation to the matters complained of in the Petition should not be made against them—by virtue of authority vested in the Board by virtue of Title 12th Chapter 59 of the Revised Statutes of Rhode Island.

This was served upon, each of the trustees, by copy—

The Act referred to in the Rev. Stat. gives to the Town Councils, the power to enquire into all breaches of trust or misappropriation of any property left for charitable purposes etc., and this petition would seem to have transferred the whole question of the difficulties in the church, from the Ecclesiastical Council to the Board of Aldermen, and will probably afford them something of a "stab." There is a right of appeal from the Board to the Supreme Court by any party aggrieved by their decisions.

Several other petitions were received and passed in conference, and 4 Grant and 9 Petit, juries were drawn for the February Term of the Supreme Court.

Co. G. 2d R. I. CAVALRY.—This company were in New York harbor, on the 2d day of February, and on board the Ship Caroline NeSmith and were to sail that day or the next for New Orleans—the only thing for which they were then waiting was their bounty money. They have doubtless sailed ere this. Charles W. Turner of this city is attached to this company as 1st Lieutenant. The good wishes of many friends accompany him on this new voyage of duty and patriotism.

Medicines.

DYSPEPSIA REMEDY.

DR. DARIUS HAM'S
Aromatic Invigorating Spirit.

This Medicine has been used by the public for seven years, with increasing favor. It is recommended to cure Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Heart-Burn, Colic, Pain, Wind in the Stomach, or Pains in the Bowels, Headache, Draw-diseases, Kidney Complaints, Low Spirits, Delirium Tremens, Insanity, &c.

It stimulates, exhilarates, invigorates, but will not intoxicate or stupefy.

As a Medicine, it is quick and efficient, curing all cases of Dyspepsia, Headache and other complaints of the Stomach and Bowels.

A Wine Glassfull will relieve drooping spirits, and restore the weakly, nervous and sickly to health.

Shortened convulsions, and those subject to Delirium Tremens, through the too free use of Liquors, &c., will immediately feel the happy effects of "Ham's Invigorating Spirit."

One wine glass full, which will remove Bad Spirts, Heartburn, Indigestion, create an appetite, dispel Pains and Colic, remove Flatulence, Alkaline, Water or Urinary Obstruction, will be relieved by a dose or two, and an effected cure by the use of a few bottles.

A dose will give instant relief to the most violent Headache, Nausea or Bad Feelings, through excesses.

Ladies of weak and sickly constitutions will do well to occasionally administer to those who have never strength.

During pregnancy it is most efficacious in removing disagreeable sensations internally, and is invaluable in assuaging generally the menstrual organs.

"We believe it to be, in the treatment of Consumption, as near a Remedy, many medicines can be."

D. Keen, M. D.—"Author of Medical Science."

"I have found them all that could be desired. Their effect was most remarkable. I used them in a case of Consumption of long duration which had been under treatment for 4 years, taking three doses daily, and a prostate graft. Ever since I discontinued them, the patient has been in full health and a prostate graft. Ever since I discontinued them, the patient has been in full health and a prostate graft. Ever since I discontinued them, the patient has been in full health and a prostate graft."
